The first stop was at Neola, a strong Populist centre, where Governor McKinley spoke briefly. There was a large crowd in waiting at Shelby, and after Governor McKinley had asked his hearers to give an increased majority for Congressman Hager, and thus indorse his vote and action on the last Republican Tariff bill, he gave way for an introduction to Colonel Grant, who was received with a mmult of applause. "I thank you for your wel-" Colonel Grant said, "and I am sorry that I cannot make a speech such as that of Governor McKinley's, to fill you with Republican enthusi-But whenever I get into such an intelligent crawd as this is, I find that they always vote that (Great cheers.)

Major Hoyt Sherman, brother of the General, was next brought forward by Governor Jackson and heartily welcomed. "I am glad to see this great Republican demonstration," he said, "but I don't believe you want to see me, for I have sold a great number of you town lots. (Great laughter.) eeting seems to indicate that you intend to vote right, but you want to see the rising generation, and, amid great applause, Major Sherman stepped back and pushed forward the son of the dead general, Tecumseh Sherman, who made a brief speech of thanks. "Here is Major-General Howard," said Governor McKilley, and there was more cheering. "I'am not going to make a speech," said General Howard. "I want Governor McKinley to have all the glory of this trip. But I hope you will vote

Avoca was the next stop, and here the visitors were escorted to a platform on the bluffs, around which 2,000 persons had gathered. A large proportion of the number were Grand Army veterans, Governor McKinley spoke for ten minutes, and then gave way to Colonel Grant. At the very mention of his name the veterans went frantic. They stormed the platform and almost smoothered him in their embraces. His hands were caught and his around the neck and sobbed aloud, and exchannations of "God bless you." were minzled with "I was with your father," here and there a number of the famous battles of the war being mentioned. Meanwhile the rest of the party had reached the train, and it moved out of the station. The absence of Colonel Grant was not noticed until Walsunt, fourteen miles distant, had been reached. Here a telegraphic inquiry developed the fact that he had managed to secure a special engine and was speeding eastward. From this point on the party received a continuous ovalion. At Atlantic, Adair, Casey, Stewart, Dexter, Earlham and several other places, large crowds were assembled an, addresses were made by Governor acklinley, Colonel Grant and Mr.
Sherman. Des Moines was reached a little after 6 éclock. Since leaving Omaha in the morning
Governor McKinley and his friends had addressed fourteen crowds, aggregating about 40,009 men, women and children, and had bowed their acknowledgments in response to greetings from assemblages at a dozen admitional points.

When the capital city was reached, it seemed as though half of the State had turned out to bid welcome to the visitors. The wide thoroughfares leading from the station to the Savoy House were almost impassable, and the cheering was tempestuous.

Every few feet the carriages containing Governor
McKinley, General Howard, Colonel Grant, Mr.
Sherman and other of the party were compelled to come to a standstill, and Army veterans fought with one another for a chance to shake hands with the occupants.

To-night Governor McKinley addressed an audience of 5,600 people at the Tabernacle, and a second meeting at Foster's Opera House, where five times as many beople as received admission tickets remained on the outside, and were audiressed by other speakers. After the meetings there was a dinner in honor of the visitors. Covers were laid for 250 representative Republicans. Governor McKinley resumes his trip at 6 a. m., reaching St. Faul in the

NAMED BY MONMOUTH REPUBLICANS. D. D. DENISE, C. A. FRANCIS AND G. B. SNYDER UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATED FOR THE ASSEMBLY.

Freehold, N. J., Oct. 5 (Special).-The Monmouth County Republicans met in convention in the County Courthouse here to-day and nominated candidates for the Assembly on one ticket throughout the country in accord with a decision given by the Supreme Court convention met promptly at o'clock. Most of the party leaders in the county were present. The reports of committees from last year were read, and committees for the coming year were appointed, the convention then tak ing a recess for dinner. On reassembling, the Committee on Permanent Officers announced Edmund Wilson as chairman of the convention, with vice-presidents and secretaries from the various townships. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the State Republican Executive Commit-tee's address and the platforms of recent Republican conventions in the State, denouncing the Democracy's attempted theft of the State Senate, and approving the course of the Monmouth Republicans in the Legislature.

The resolutions were adopted amid applicase The resolutions were adopted amid applicuse, and the convention then proceeded to the nomination of candidates for the Assembly. These men were nominated by a unanimous vote: David D. Denise, of the old Vth District; the present representative in the House, C. Asa Francis, of Long Branch, to succeed the late Charles L. Walters, and George B. Snyder, of Red Bank, the present Republican Frecholder. Mr. Denise is a welsto-do farmer, and a man of exceptional ability. Mr. Francia is the foremost citizen of Long Branch, a member of the present Board of Town Commissioners, and popular in his party throughout the State. Mr. Snyder is the present Freeholder of the Shrewsbury Township, who always wins as a Republican in a Democratic stronghold. The ticket is an exceedingly strong one.

There is sure to be a fight among the Democrats in the 11d and 111d districts, threatening the disintegration of the party in the county, owing to the interference of "Uncle" Rutus Blodgett, formerly a United States Senator.

FOR A UNION TICKET IN BROOKLYN. E. M. SHEPARD WANTS TO HAVE DEMOCRATS NOMINATED FOR CONTROLLER AND AUDITOR. Strong efforts are being made to secure a unlot of forces between the Republicans and the Reform Democrats in Brooklyn upon candidates for the city and county offices to be filled. Last week some leading Republicans met and considered the tion of combining in a movement with the Independent Democratic Committee, of which Edward Shepard is the head, upon local offices. Mayor Schieren expressed himself strongly in favor of Last evening in response to a call issued by Benjamin F. Blair, chairman of the Republican County Committee, about thirty prominent Republicars met in the rooms of the Young Republican Club and listened to the views of Edward M. Shepard. He set forth that according to the election returns for a term of years the Republican was the minority party in Brooklyn. Since 1879 the party had not been able to elect its candidates for Controller and City Auditor. Last year Mayor Schleren's election was due to the fact that 31,600 or 22,600 Independent Democrats voted for him. Mr. Shepard then pointed out the advantage to the Republicans of supporting Independent Democrats for Controller and City Auditor, as thus men would be elected who would co-operate with the Mayor in se-curing good government and an end of ring rule.

He said the Independent Democrats would hold their city convention the night before the Republi-can city convention would meet, and their county convention after the Republican one, so that reciprocal action could be taken.

The names of Henry W. Maxwell for Controller, and John Erregger for City Auditor, were presented as those of eminently satisfactory men. A number as those of eminently satisfactory men. A number of the Republicans present were convinced of the soundness of the views of Mr. Shepard Others, however, urged a Republican straight ricket, as with two Democratic tickets in the field it would easily vin. No final determination was made, but the Republicans will hold a larger and more representative conference this evening. To this the 100 other prominent Republicans have been invited by Mr. Blair. The meeting will be held in the Johnston building.

do not think it advisable for men holding positions, and especially those holding them for so short a period, becoming candidates for other offices."

With Messrs, Barrow and Harmon out of the field, the chief aspirants for the nomination to the lucrative office of Register are Theodore B. Willis, Charles M. Nevins, Robert B. Selkwick, and James M. Fuller. For County Clerk the names of William H. Leaveraft, William A. Booth, Henry C. Saffen, and E. H. Schlueter, are the leading ones.

Mr. Blair said yesterday that while he did not wish to be quoted in favor of a conlition ticket, he thought many Republicans helieved in such a movement. The trouble with the Republican party in Brooklyn was its inability to take broad views of important metters. Personal feelings were allowed to supersede public interests.

THE CAMPAIGN IN VIRGINIA.

NOT A YEAR FOR BIG DEMOCRATIC MA-JORITIES.

VIEW OF HIS PARTY'S PROSPECTS-EFFECT

OF THE NEW BALLOT LAW-GENERAL WALKER'S ENERGETIC FIGHT.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Washington, Oct. 5.-Information received by the Republican Congressional Committee from a variety of sources, Democratic and Populist as well dicated a degree and extent of anathy in the Demo success of its candidates in several of the Conthe Republicans and Populists are showing signs of unusual activity. The latter will undoubtedly be stimulated to still greater activity by the reports of heavy Populist gains in Georgia. The reports of Democratic apathy in Virginia have been unexpectedly confirmed by Senator Daniel, of that State, who has spoken in five of the ten Congress Districts since the beginning of the campaign. Mr. Daniel is the most popular Democratic campaign speaker in the State, and he is lending all his power and energies to save Democratic candidates for Congress from defeat. In conversation with a ator said:

"This is an off year in polities, and an off year is always particularly offish for the party that happens to be in power. This will not be a year for large Democratic majorities; but, on the other hand, so far as I can see, there will be no land-

"Are many Democrats leaving the party?" asked the correspondent.

"No; that is not the trouble. It is the stay-athome votes that will hurt us. We must get out our vote. We have little or no money, and must rely almost exclusively upon our individual efforts and appeals to arouse and interest the Democrats. There is no doubt that depression stal exists, and it is naturally charged, whether rightfully or wrongly, to the party in power. There is a better tendency now, but we have not begun to hand around our goods on silver trays." "Are the Populists cutting much of a figure in this campaign?" "I have been in a number of counties in this and adjoining districts, and I find a very considerabl sprinkling of Populists in the tobacco-growing counties of Bedford, Campbell and Halifax, in this district, and in Pittsylvania County, in Mr. Swan-son's district, and his own home, in fact, they are particularly numerous. This is due to the low price paid now for tobacco, to the failure of the Democratic Congress to repeal the internal revenue tax and to other causes. The silver question, i this district at least, is not a factor so three candidates are concerned, for all of them have declared for free comage."

"Is there a divided sentiment on the tariff queshave declared for free coinage."

"Is there a divided sentiment on the tariff question?"

"In the southwestern part of the State, where coal and from mines are situated, there is little sympathy with the free-coal and free-fron-ore idea as incorporated in the Tariff bill which passed the House. A desire to discountenance a reduction from the tariff of 40 cents a ton which has been enacted may keep some Democrats from going to the polls. Not many, perhaps, but some.

Considerable anxiety exists in Virginia, especially among the Democratic leaders, in rezard to the probable effect of the new Eallot law upon the result. The measure was passed in the expiring days of the last Legislature as a reluctant concession to the public demand for a free ballot and a fair count, it is a modified form of the Australian system, and contains a provision for the appointment at each precinct of three special constables, who upon the request of voters who are illiterate or otherwise disqualified, are to mark their ballots for them. This provision, in the opinion of the Democratic leaders, who have been in the babit of manipulating election returns so as to nullify the intention of voters, would give a fine opportunity to continue their unlawful practices under color manipulating election returns so as to nullify the intention of voters, would give a fine opportunity to continue their unlawful practices under color of law by the appointment of special constables who could be depended on to "as" the ballots "properly." This plan will undoubtedly be carried out with considerable success in a number of counties; but on the whole, the Democratic leaders fear that the new law will not give so great an advantage to them as they had expected.

In the INth Compress District the Republican candidate is General James A. Walker, who succeeded Jackson as commander of the old "Stonewall Brigade" of General Lee's army. He is exceedingly popular among the ex-Confederate. He does not propose that any man shall be appointed a special constable in that district who cannot be trusted to MISS FISCHER ENGAGED BY MR. FROHMAN. Miss Alice Fischer has been engaged by Charles Frohman for the Empire Theatre stock company. She will play the second part in "The Masqueraders," Henry Arthur Jones's play, with which the season is to open. The part is that of Helen Larondle, the sister of the heroine of the play. Dulcie Larondie. It was played in London by Miss Oranville. The character somewhat suggests Frou-Fron's sister Louise. She is the guardian angel of the other characters—those who are worth guard-ing—the only one in the piece who does not do anything foolish or wicked; the only one, in short, who is not a musquerader.

The exercises will last three days. It is expected that considerable attention will be paid to politics in the addresses, so far as the formation of the new State Constitution is concerned, but no partisan utterances are looked for.

CONTROLLER ROBERTS TAKEN HOME.

Buffalo, Oct. 5.—Controller Roberts arrived in Buffalo from Saratoga at 4:50 clock this afternoon. He stood the fatigues of the journey well and great hopes are now felt that he may speedily recover. It was said at Mr. Roberts's home this evening that the physicians in charge were much pleased with the strength shown by the sick man during his journey, and were confident that he was as well as could be expected under the circumstances. His symptoms in general were no worse than before he left Saratoga, and for him to endure the journey as he did was considered excellent ground for believing that he is better than at almost any other time since he was taken ill.

VARIED NOTES OF A ROUND ROBIN.

That versatile and highly educated "round robin" as heard again yesterday afternoon at the Professional Woman's League, and the notes of melody were humorous and effective. The first little lay was called "is Gossip an Irremediable Evil" and was piped by Miss Emma Carroll, who considered that gossip was ingrained and hereditary, and its only remedy was said to be "golden stience." The next notes were strong and resonant, and "Woman's True Position" was well placed by Miss Estelle Clayton. "My Experiences in Dreamland," told by Mrs. Ober, recalled many memories of a similar nature to her heavers. "The Lords of Creation," according to Miss Chara Thropp, were outclassed in every instance by the corresponding women. A minor key was struck by Miss Constance Compton, whose "Skit of West Indian Travel" was a succession of harrowing experiences, and a general warning was given in regard to the West Indies, something like "Give up hope all ye who enter there."

The last echoes of the "round robin" were listened to with much pleasure. "Peggy or, Leaves from Life." a pretty hitle romance founded on facts, was successively bright, gay, tragic and tender, and was written for the occasion and read by Miss Cynthia Westover to the satisfaction of her hearers. Among those present were Mrs. A. M. Palmer, Miss Emma Pield, Miss Katharine Stagg, Mrs. Cora Staart-Wheeler, Mrs. Charles Irwin, Miss Van Buren, Mrs. James Fairman, the Misses Fairman, Miss Louise Muldener, and Mrs. Jane Pierce, of the West Side Historical Society. SELECTIONS FROM THE MAIL

THE DEPARTMENT NEEDS MORE MONEY. A PLEA FOR IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED IN THE BUILDINGS ON BLACKWELL'S ISLAND.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: During the last year severe criticisms of the Department of Charities and Correction have been published by the press of this city, and in many cases the root of the evil criticised has be found in the standard of care set by the annual appropriations. The time is at hand when the appropriations for the coming year are to be fixed the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which defines within parrow limits what the Com missioners of Charities and Correction can for a year to come accomplish as servants of the public. Is not this, therefore, the time when a watchful press should scrutinize their plans, insist upon the supply of sufficient means for useful ends, and protest against ill-judged expenditure?

As a contribution toward this end, I ask you to grant me space to recount such needs of the department as have particularly impressed the members of the New-York County Visiting Committee of the State Charities Aid Association. It would, of course, be unreasonable to expect all deficiencies to be supplied in a single year; where so much is wanting opinions may well dif-fer as to which need is most urgent. The recent investigation of the city asylums has,

I think, demonstrated that the standard of care the insane should be higher, and especially that there should be a better class of attendants, trained for their duties. The asylums have already been greatly improved during the last twenty years, and it is to be hoped that their progress may be continuous.

The hospital department of the almshouse is sadly wanting in respect of appliances, diet and care. Better trained nurses and more of them are here, too, the most obvious need. On the women's side of the New-York City (formerly Charity) Hospital, on Blackwell's Island, there is need of towers such as have been erected there is need of towers such as have been erected on the men's side, to contain bathrooms, etc. The existing plumbing of the women's wards is in a very bad and uncanitary condition.

The supply of gas on Blackwell's Island is entirely inadequate to light the numerous buildings there, and the consequent unavoidable use in some buildings of kerosene lamps and lanterns involves the risk of fire, especially in the hands of the is norant and unirustworthy "workhouse help." An improved gas supply or an electric-light plant is much needed.

None of the docks used by the Department of Charities and Correction are roofed over, although thousands of passengers, many of them siek or infirm, and very large quantities of provisions and other freight pass over them annually, and the aggregate of damage from exposure to the weather must be considerable. It is to be wished that one dock may be covered over each year, until all are protected.

furnish a home in one of the suburbs of Washington. They bought and built on the instalment plant and this summer, "because the payments on the house dragged so," the delicate little wife sought, by filling her pretty little home with boarders, to hasten the coming of the day when they could call the home their own.

But within a few works past young Mr Carlisle let his eve fall on the crappled Union veteran, and he was cast out of the employ of the fooverment for which he and his family had suffered so much. Is this the treatment which was promised in 1851 by all the representatives of the people from President Lincoln down?

This is not merely a question of Democratic or Republican politics. It profoundly affects the holiof of the whole American prophe, and ought to call out from patriotic men of an shades of printics the most stinging rebuke which it is in their power to administer.

I have written this story on the impulse of the moment and without permission of the veteran in question. I will give his name if desired, but not for publication. Is there no way whereby such menstrous wrongs can be effectually resented, punished, prevented? THE LLOYDS INSURANCE.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: As reported in this morning's papers, it would appear that the Chamber of Commerce has taken action upon a report of the Insurance Committee of that body in reference to "Loyds insurance."

As a member of the Chamber, I was present at the meeting held yesterday and objected to the report, on the ground that the managers of the various "Lloyds" had had no notice of any meeting of the committee or opportunity of being heard on the subject and on my mation the report, was received and ordered to be printed, a copy sent to each member of the Chamber, and action deferred until the regular meeting on Navember I.

Meantime the committee were requested to give a hearing to all parties concerned.

New-York, Oct. 5, 1894. D. R. SATTERLEE.

OBITUARY.

PROFESSOR VINCENZO BOTTA. Professor Vincenzo Botta, the well-known scholar and author and a vice-president of the Union League Club, who fell from a window in the third story rear of his house, No. 25 West Thirty-seventh-st., early last Tuesday morning, died yesterday morning. Professor Botta dined with a friend on Monday evening. For some time he had been subject to attacks of vertigo. He retired about 11 o'clock to his room on the third floor. Suffering from vertigo, he evidently arose, partly dressed ance, he fell to the roof of a bay-window about twelve feet below and bounded from there to the stone pavement. The noise awakened J.

and through Mr. Boyd's efforts Professor Botta was discovered unconscious where he had fallen. He was attended by Drs. Guernsey, Gilbert, Helmuth and Jones. He seemed to be better on Thursday night. His long-time friend, Baron Fava, the day night. His long-time it can be used to the United States, reached the city on Thursday night, accompanied by the Baroness. Baron Fava was determined, if possible, to see his old friend. The physicians allowed him to enter the room, and, approaching the Professor's bedside, Baron Fava said:

"My dear Botta, how do you do to-night?"
"You are Fava," exclaimed the sufferer, starting up without opening his eyes. "Where is the Baroness?" She stepped forward and he pressed their hands, meanwhite conversing in his native tongue. The physicians were astonished, as Mr. Batta had grown weaker during the day, taking no nourishment and being anable to talk. Baron Fava left Professor Botta at 12 o'clock, and at 3

Professor Botta was in many ways a remarkable man. He was more than six feet in height, well proportioned and weighed nearly 20 pounds. He was born in Cavewer Magglore, Piedmont, Italy, on November II, 1818. He was educated at the University of Turin and became a professor of philosophy in that institution. In 1849 he was elected to the Sardinian Parliament. A year later he, in confunction with Dr. Parowa, examined Germany's eincational system. He came to New-York in 1831 to study the public school system. Eiking the United States, he became naturalized and was elected to fill the chair of languages in the University of the City of New-York. In 1855 he married Anna charlotte Lynch, the author. Their home became a literary centre in this city, and the most famous painters, authors and musicians of Europe and America met there. Mrs. Botta died two years ago. Professor Botta had resigned his chair some line before. Professor Botta was in many ways a remarkable

SENATOR HILL'S QUANDARY,

HE HAS GONE TOO FAR TO WITHDRAW. From The Watertown Times.

Senator Hill played with the convention and al-lowed matters to go too far to withdraw. If he is in a hole he has put himself there, and will have HE RETAINS THE BIRD IN HAND From The Chicago Inter Ocean.

Senator Hill will carry the Senatorship deep down in his breeches pocket, while he thrashes the bushes of New-York for votes to make him IS HE WAITING FOR THAT TELEGRAM?

From The Springfield Union.

Senator Hill has not yet received the congratulatory telegram sent from Buzzard's Bay, Possibly that accounts for the delay in filing his letter of acceptance.

IN DANGER OF BEING PORGOTTEN. From The Chicago Tribune.

Senator Hill will make a mistake if he defers action on the nomination any longer. A war in Europe would attract nearly all the public attention away from him.

NO LONGER THE "UNTERRIFIED." From The Providence Journal. Doubtless Senator Hill meant himself principally then he referred to "the unterrified Democracy" t Saratoga, but the phrase applies to him no inger, if report is to be credited.

SOME RECIPROCITY NEEDED. From The Philadelphia Press, Hill will hardly accept the nomination until he discovers a few more Democrats who are willing to accept Hill.

A STRIKING CONTRAST. From The Utica Herald.

From The Utica Fierain.

Candidate Hill in New-York, chasing around trying to put salt on the tail of the clusive and threatening third-tloket bird, is in siriking contrast to Mr. Morton in his quiet home, surrounded by his family, receiving announcement of his nomination by a united and confident party. HIS WITHDRAWAL WILL NOT SAVE THEM. From The Boston Herald.

TO COMPETE WITH STEEL RAIL TRUST.

PLANS OF THE OHIO STEEL COMPANY, THE IMMENSE PLANT OF WHICH AT YOUNGS-TOWN WILL SOON BE IN OPERATION.

Pittsburg, Oct. 5.-Powerful competition to the Steel Rail Trust is coming from the Mahoning Valley. At Youngstown, Ohio, an immense plant has been erected by the Ohio Steel Company, at a cost of $1,500,000. In January it will be placed in operation, to run day and night, with a carefully selected crew of experienced workmen. The will have a capacity of 1,000 tons of steel rails a day, and by reason of the many improvements inhimself and went to the window. Losing his bal-ance, he fell to the roof of a bay-window about twelve feet below and bounded from there to the threatens destruction to the colossal pool which now virtually controls steel rail and biffet pro-duction in the United States. The plant was os-Boyd, jr., who lives at .so. 28 West Thirty-eighth-st., tensibly constructed for the manufacture of steel billets to supply the mills in the Mahoning Val-ley, which heretofore have purchased this product from Pittsburg manufacturers. The mills are so constructed, however, that with interchangeable rolls, which will be employed, billets or rails may be turned out. The start in January will be on billets. Subsequently steel rails will be the main product of the plant, which will give employment to 1,000 men.

WASTED HIS FORTUNE AND LIFE.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Jossell Meyer Bushong, aged sixty-eight, died at the City Hospital on Wednesday and was buried to-day in Potter's Field. More than forty years ago, on coming of age, Bushong found forty years ago, on coming of age, Bushong found himself in possession of an estate worth nearly $20,000. He spent money recklessiy about New-York and Philadelphia, and when it was exhausted he went to the far West, drifting aimlessly from one camp to another. Last June he arrived here with one of the "Commonweal" detachments, and was sent to the City Hospital an incurable consumptive.

By trifling with a cold many a one allows himself to drift into a condition favorable to the develop-ment of some latent disease, which thereafter takes full possession of the system. Better cure your cold at once with Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, a good remedy for throat-ails and lung affections. ...
